State Upheld by Supreme Court in Gas Fight

Utility Is Ordered by Federal Court to Disclose Rates

Contended It Was "Interstate" at Two Points—Is Overruled

VICTORY FOR STATE Will Help State Commission's Fight, Says Thomas Fitzhugh

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States Supreme Court Monday upheld an order by the Arkansas Department of Public Utilities directing the Arkansas Louisiana Gas company to file the schedule of rates charged Hot Springs and Camden, Ark., and 40 industrial plants in rural territory.

The company contended its business was in interstate commerce and not subject to regulation by the state.

It filed a rate schedule for 55 municipalities in which it owns and operates local distributing plants. It does not own the distributing plants at Hot Springs and Camden.

The supreme court, divided six to two, found the municipal bankruptcy act constitutional Monday. The law was a revision of an act which the court invalidated two years ago as an invasion of state rights.

Victory for State

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—Thomas Fitzhugh, chairman of State Utilities Commission, said Monday that the United States Supreme Court decision in the Arkansas Louisiana Gas company case should materially assist the commission in its investigation to determine if rate reductions should be ordered.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(AP)—The start of a federal investigation whether the WPA has been made the pawn of politics in Pennsylvania brought broader charges Sunday of political coercion of all state employees.

As the WPA sent field representatives to study charges and counter charges from two factions in the state's Democratic primary fight, a third candidate—Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti—threatened to launch a state investigation.

He said "both banks of bosses" are guilty of "wielding the mace" over state employees, and added: "I will take definite action to stop it."

John B. Kelly, Philadelphia Democratic chairman whose telegram to President Roosevelt started the government's inquiry, pressed Sunday to have the inquiry taken from the hands of the WPA and placed before the

Freddie Bartholomew, in Debt, Struggles to Make Comeback

The sad-looking expression in Freddie Bartholomew's face is there for a good reason. Freddie is approaching the difficult age which has spelled oblivion for so many boy actors.

Long Court Fight Expensive, But He Finally Wins Out

Future Looks Bright Despite Boy's Recent Hardships

OFF SCREEN YEAR

During Year Great English Star Has Lived Like Regular Boys

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD.—By the time you see Freddie Bartholomew in "Kidnaped," that young star will have been off the screen about a year. An actor whom many a critic and player said deserved the 1937 Academy Award for his performance in "Captains Courageous," Freddie finds himself trying to make a comeback in 1938.

Hard-luck stories are rare in the high places of Hollywood, but Bartholomew, just turned 14, could tell three of them—the long custody squabble with his parents which he and his Aunt Millicent finally won; the surprising court order to pay one-fifth of his earnings to his parents and $15,000 to their attorneys; and his own long suspension by Metro, ostensibly over a salary disagreement.

A Year of Freedom

However, recently both court orders compelling the payments to his parents and attorneys were set aside, and although he is not only broke today, but in debt, there is actually a fair fortune in sight for him ahead. The trusteeship of his estate has been removed from a bank which had depleted it from $30,000 to less than $500, and Freddie is now a financial ward of Superior Court. Even his aunt cannot spend any of his money without court approval.

Immediately behind him is a year of idleness which might have been his most profitable one.

"Actually, though, it was the best year of his life," said Miss Millicent Bartholomew. "You couldn't realize how much the freedom meant—to be able to do things like other boys. I didn't have to say, 'Be careful on those skates, Freddie,' or 'Better not climb that tree, Freddie; you couldn't finish the picture with a broken leg.'"

He rode often at one of the stables that rents horses. He learned to take hurdles, and he was trying to go under the horse as they do in circus. He went flying several times with a friend of ours, and wants to take lessons when he is 16.

On his birthday a few weeks ago, March 28, he was up practically at dawn. He kept saying, "Cis, can you

Divorce Requires 'Mutual Consent'

Three-Years-Absence Law Not Absolute, Arkansas Court Holds

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday in a five-to-two decision held that Arkansas' new law allowing divorce upon three years' separation requires a mutual agreement between husband and wife.

The majority decision, written by Chief Justice Smith, held the separation act could not be invoked in a case where the husband suggested the wife leave home for a short visit with relatives in another city, and then moved from his home to an hotel in his home city, maintaining the status of a separation for three years in disregard of the wife's requests that he return to her.

The decision reversed a decree of Union chancery which granted Dr. D. E. White, El Dorado physician, an absolute divorce from Mary Lynn White under these alleged circumstances.

The ruling did not affect the separate grounds of desertion available under Arkansas' divorce laws.

Hall Again Seeks State Secretary

Files as Candidate for Second Term, Citing His Record

LITTLE ROCK.—Secretary of State C. G. (Crip) Hall filed his corrupt practices pledge Saturday, and announced that he would be a candidate for re-election to a second term in the Democratic primary August 9th.

Elected to his first public office two years ago by a majority of more than 44,000 votes, Mr. Hall declared he was seeking a second term entirely on his record.

"I have tried to operate the Secretary of State's office in a fair, business-like and efficient manner. A modern bookkeeping-accounting system has been installed so that a complete record is available to show how and where every penny of the taxpayers' money has been spent," Mr. Hall said in discussing his tenure of office.

"A great many improvements have been made in the capital building, of which the Secretary of State is custodian. In fact, the late Governor George W. Donaghey said in an unsolicited letter that the capital building was in better condition, and more improvements had been made during the short term I have been in office, than in the 25 years preceding."

KARLOVY VARY, Czechoslovakia. (AP)—Konrad Henlein, leader of Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Germans, asserted over the week-end they must be granted autonomy and complete equality with Czechs. Otherwise, he said in a formal statement of demands in a speech before a congress of leaders of the Sudeten German party, the minority would not consent to remain part of the state "into which we were incorporated against our will."

"We Germans will continue to regard ourselves as oppressed so long as we are not free to do whatever Czechs may do," he declared.

Listing eight demands which he said must be fulfilled, Henlein concluded with a warning.

"We declare neither civil war nor foreign war, but we cannot longer tolerate conditions which to us are a kind of war in the midst of peace."

Recalling that he had opposed creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under President Hoover, Wheeler said:

"I felt then that one of our great difficulties was the over-capitalization of our industries, selling of watered stock, issuance of stock dividends, particularly with reference to holding companies."

"From 1929 to 1933, instead of trying to maintain the private debt structure, and making government loans to banks, banks, railroads and industrial concerns, we should have permitted them to be liquidated and then passed legislation to prevent over-capitalization again."

"Sooner or later we are going to have to be realistic about this matter. We should play in the near future, Harper announced.

Early Vote to Be Sought in Petition Now Circulating

Chancery Court Clears Garland Building Title Over Week-End

PWA WOULD HELP

Federal Bureau Might Reduce Local Cost by 45 Per Cent

An early vote on the removal of the Hempstead county courthouse site from Washington to Hope appeared Monday with the announcement by R. P. Bowen, secretary of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, that the petitions for the removal would be ready for distribution Thursday of this week.

The title to the Garland school property, proposed site for the courthouse, was cleared in chancery court over the week-end, Mr. Bowen said.

"Every bond has been paid, every coupon accounted for and every mortgage released. Although the City of Hope agreed to guarantee the title, the committee decided to clear every vestige of indebtedness against the property and offer the county an abstract of title and include it in every petition, so there could be no doubt in anyone's mind of this score," Mr. Bowen said.

"If the courthouse is built now, it will be possible to get a gift from the Public Works Administration for 45 per cent of the total cost of construction, or to borrow the money without interest. This cuts the cost to citizens of Hempstead county in half."

"The chamber committee believes a large majority of the voters will favor taking advantage of this saving. The petitions will be put in the hands of selected men in each voting precinct to get signers to the petition."

"As soon as a sufficient number of signers has been secured, County Judge Frank Rider will be asked to call a special election."

"The committee, on removal of the courthouse site, believes it will require only a few days to get sufficient signers and that it will be possible to call the election date for June 1," Mr. Bowen concluded.

U.S. Still Faces a Reckoning With Debt, Says Sen. Wheeler

Must Either "Go Through Wringer" or "Face Disastrous Inflation" Says Opponent of "Pump Priming"

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator Wheeler (Dem., Mont.) said over the week-end that the government's efforts to lend and spend the nation out of depression would "in the long run" mean either a "general liquidation" or inflation with disastrous results.

The Montana added that policies of both the Hoover and Roosevelt administrations had made it impossible to abandon federal pump-priming expenditures at present because of the necessity of making jobs.

He demanded that money appropriated under the president's proposed new lend-lease program be earmarked for work that would "add to capital assets of the nation," and expressed a preference for the type of work carried on under PWA rather than WPA. In general, WPA concentrates on "fashioning projects which require less costly materials than PWA projects."

Wheeler's views on pump-priming conflicted sharply with those of others in the liberal-progressive bloc with which he was associated for many years. In 1924 he was the vice-presidential candidate on the La Follette party ticket. The La Follette Progressive group favors heavy government spending.

Wheeler conceded it was "necessary

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress Monday to remove "promptly" tax exemptions on income from all future government bond issues—federal, state and local—and on all government salaries.

The existing exemptions, he said, resulted from judicial decisions and could be eliminated by a "short and simple statute" which he predicted the courts would uphold.

The president's request for prompt action added to the problems of administration leaders trying to reach adjournment by late May.

We are allowed the privilege of mentioning in this column anything beautiful that comes within our vision and being a lover of "The Beautiful" we are always on the lookout, and have had the pleasure of seeing the Youmans-Garland Iris garden expand into one of the most beautiful sights with in many miles of our city, which is noted as you know in the eyes of our visitors, passing through, as an unusually beautiful town, with its well kept lawns and lovely flower gardens, and while we cannot claim the Iris garden as a suburb even, it is so near, we can have the pleasure of seeing it quite often; and it certainly does one's soul good to see that vast expanse of blue, yellow and two-toned flowers, that, although they may not be quite as expensive as the much prized orchid, they are a lovely substitute, and certainly reflect great credit on the man who has chosen this particular close relative of the aristocrat of all flowers, as his hobby. The Iris is not the only lovely flower grown on the Garland homestead, beautiful roses, honeysuckles, and the state flower of our nearest neighbor, The Texas Blue Bonnet, is grown to perfection, indeed, which ever way one turns his eyes, he is greeted by a burst of color, and on holidays, and Sunday afternoons all roads seem to lead to the "Iris Garden," and we know of no more uplift to one's soul, than to view this magnificent display of beauty.

We Sit Down Too Much for Health

U. S. on "Sit Down Strike"
Against "Big Muscle Exercise"

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP)—Americans sit down too much for their physical good, a health authority said Sunday.

Dr. N. P. Neilson of Stanford University, newly-named president of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation which concluded sessions here yesterday, blamed modern conveniences.

"We sit around reading, listening to the radio, at the theater, in motor cars and even in airplanes going 200 miles an hour," he said, "and here's the result: The average person in the United States can't run up even one flight of stairs without being thoroughly exhausted."

He urged an end to the "sit-down strike" against big muscle exercise. "Play the game, don't watch it all the time," Dr. Neilson suggested.

"The sit-down pastimes have their place in modern life," he went on, "but powerful exercise should not be cast aside because they have. It is no less than a crime to allow children to go through school without opportunity for a physical education program."

America still, he said, is far from a nation of "softies."

realize it—I'm 14! I'm 14! He's proud of his long pants and his big feet; he buys shoes about two sizes too big. His voice is getting lower, but it doesn't crack.

"You know he used to be a bit under-sized and rather—ah—fragile-looking. Well, he weighs 104 pounds now, and is 5 feet 4 inches tall, and has an appetite like a wolf. He grew more than an inch in the last three months, and— But here he comes now."

Getting Wild and Husky
We were on location with the "Lord Jeff" company. Bartholomew, with other naval cadets, had been climbing some marine rigging erected for practice on the grounds of a school. In the recently completed "Kidnaped," for which he was loaned to 20th-Fox, he had a more rugged, young-manly role than ever before. For "Lord Jeff," though, he again is an arrogant brat. His next assignment probably will be "Kinn," and after that "One Young American."

Freddie said, "Hello there," in a voice that seemed to originate from the region of his ankles. He shook hands in the Victor McLaren manner. He seemed pleased when I noted his conventional haircut—his first. But he showed marked unwillingness to chat about the picture or future roles. Kept looking at me speculatively and finally burst out with, "I say—do you want to go to sleep?" I said no, thanks, but I would call on him next time. I was troubled with insomnia. He said, "Oh, you must; it's real jupitus. Now take three deep breaths and hold the last one."

A Stunt Woman Takes a Movie Fall for $50

Helen Gibson, movie stunt woman, was paid $50 for this fall in RKO's "Condemned Women"—and these pictures prove that the $50 was well earned. In the movie, Miss Gibson, playing the part of a prison matron, gets shot during a riot by one of the women convicts shown huddled at the bottom of the stairs. Clutching her side (left), Miss Gibson starts her fall, bangs against the side rail (center) and then tumbles head over heels down the entire flight of iron steps (right). Miss Gibson, who is 44 years old, plans to give up her hazardous occupation soon. On stunts like this she gets $50 for the fall and $25 each for retakes—if she's able to make them.

Strong hands (Mr. Bartholomew's) grabbed me. I took three deep breaths and held the last one. Then two young thumbs moved athwart my ears and pressed on a couple of nerves, or arteries or something.

I saw stars (not-movie) and the aurora borealis, and heard bells. Just as I was about to subside into the arms of a properly man who acts as Bartholomew's catcher on these occasions I was relieved by Director Sam Wood's yell of "Freddie, hurry up; we're waiting!"

Future Education
I returned to non-militant Miss Myllicent, who told about Freddie's education. He is in the second semester of junior high school now, is especially good at English composition and mathematics, and can enter college when he is 16. His tutor has written for the catalogs of Stanford, Yale, Harvard, Oxford and Cambridge, but it is by no means certain that he will go to college.

Miss Bartholomew would like him to travel first, perhaps for a year. But both agree that if he is prospering in pictures two years from now he probably will remain in Hollywood and continue to study under tutors. About time, too, they will discuss the matter of remaining British subjects or becoming American citizens, and he will make the choice. Already his tastes and sympathies are overwhelmingly American. "Freddie reads everything from world affairs to westerns," his aunt said. "He loves westerns. And swing music!"

"He still hasn't a very clear idea about money. He gets a dollar a week to spend, since his new contract, and doesn't seem to realize the size of his salary. He wanted a bicycle for his birthday, and I cautioned him that if he should get hurt he might be sent back to England owing a lot of money. So he agreed that he shouldn't have a bicycle. But he said, 'Don't you worry. Cis—in two or three years I'll be able to work and earn.'"

Kelly added he had withheld "the mass of information" which he wanted to submit to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Guffy, who broke with the state committee over the endorsement of Charles Alvin Jones for governor and Gov. George H. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia for United States senator, he said it was Kelly and the Democratic state organization who "coerced" WPA jobholders.

Joe DiMaggio

has something to say about how different cigarettes can be!

"How about it, Joe, do you find that Camels are different from other cigarettes?"

"Any all-cigarettes-are-alike talk doesn't jibe with my experience. There's a big difference. I've smoked Camels steadily for 5 years, and found that Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me, in a lot of ways. Good taste. Mildness. Easy on the throat. And Camels don't give me jumpy nerves. Like a lot of other people I know, I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

BILL GRAHAM, seeing Joe DiMaggio pull out his package of Camels, asked his opinion on smoking. Joe came straight to the point: "There's a difference, a big difference, between Camels and the others." You, too, will find in Camels a matchless blend of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic.

CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

JOE KEEPS his hand in on mending nets. His family are fisher folk. DiMaggio is 6 feet tall—weighs around 185 pounds. His nerves are h-e-a-l-t-h-y!

IN THE KITCHEN of his picturesque water front restaurant, Joe says: "I eat pretty much what I like all season long and smoke Camels with my meals and afterwards, 'for digestion's sake.'"

CLOSE-UP OF JOE'S GRIP. "Ball players go for Camels in a big way," he says. "I'm a steady smoker myself. Camels have real mildness all right—don't irritate my throat."

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER
"Camels agree with me"

"TOBACCO GROWERS FAVOR CAMELS FOR THEIR SMOKING!"
—is the majority opinion in a survey of well-known tobacco planters

"When Camel says 'costlier tobaccos' I know it's right," says Mr. Edward Estes, capable young planter, who knows tobacco from the ground up because he grows it. "Take my last crop, for instance. Camel bought all the best parts—paid me the most I've ever gotten. The men who grow tobacco know what to smoke—Camels!"

"Last year I had the dandiest crop ever," says Mr. Roy Jones, another experienced planter who prefers Camels. "I smoke Camels because I know they bid higher and pay more at the auctions for the choice lots of leaf tobacco. They paid the highest price I ever got from anybody. Considering that Camel uses finer, costlier tobaccos, it's not surprising that Camel is the leading cigarette with us planters."

Mr. Harold Craig, too, bases his preference for Camels on what he knows about the kinds of tobaccos that go into the various cigarettes. "I get the check—so I know that Camels use more expensive tobaccos. Camel got the best of my last crop. That holds true with most planters I know too. You bet I smoke Camels."

STORIES IN STAMPS

STORM CENTER
CZECHOSLOVAKIA

POLITICAL heart of Czechoslovakia and storm center of the nation these days is Prague, with its massive towers and storied architecture. For here must be faced, inevitably, the threat of Nazidom.

Already Premier Milan Hodza has announced that his government would try to reach a "synthetic understanding" with its minorities, chiefly the 3,200,000 Sudeten Germans and already Nazis have expressed dissatisfaction.

So from Prague issue new orders to strengthen Czechoslovakia's border fortifications, particularly along the vulnerable German and Silesian sides; to create new tank regiments; increase the number of first-line planes from 350 to 2000. The Czech army, small, is nevertheless perhaps the best-armed force of its size in the world, strong in heavy artillery, anti-aircraft equipment, machine guns and tanks.

Prague does not expect the army could long repel German invasion but it could protect the beautiful little country until help arrived—providing it did arrive. Czechoslovakia possesses an intense nationalism, is strongly spiritual, as its spired cities indicate. Shown here is the great St. Nicholas Church in Prague, typical of the rare beauty that is this tiny republic's.

Big Righthander Limits Former Team Mates to Four Hits

CHICAGO—(AP)—The great one Dizzy Dean poured it on his old mates Sunday.

The big right handed pitcher for whom the Chicago Cubs paid $185,000 and three players to St. Louis just eight days ago, shut out the Cardinals five to nothing with a four-hit hurling victory as a Cub in as many starts.

As Dean walked off the diamond, laughingly crowding his way through autograph seekers, he drawled: "Just 28 more wins to go."

A crowd of 34,250 fans turned out for Dean's first start as a Cub in Wrigley Field, and put on a show. He got on base twice, one on one of the two errors the Cardinals made, and again with a neat single to right, and scored two runs.

He used his fast ball sparingly, blazing it in only occasionally, but none-the-less successfully. His curve had his ex-mates almost breaking their backs most of the afternoon—to the delight of a throng which took Diz right to its heart.

Dean, by his full nine-inning performance, did a great job of dispelling fears that the arm which bothered him last year hasn't returned to shape. In his first start as a Cub this past week, he worked six innings at Cincinnati, gave eight hits and two runs. He went the distance in old-time form Sunday, retiring the Cards in order in the final three frames.

Dean's triumph was achieved at the expense of a youngster making his first major league start, Max Macon, up from Columbus. Macon pitched well, allowing only eight hits. Three of them came in the third inning, however, and were largely responsible for the first two Cub runs, which proved a more-than-enough margin for Diz.

Calby Hartnett started that inning with a single and Dean was safe on the first of two errors by Terry Moore. Hack singled to center, Hartnett, Dean going to third. Herman fled out, but Hip Collins singled to score Dean before Frank Demaree forced Collins at second.

With one out, Dean "came through" with about 10 photographs who crouched around the plate by singling to right in the fifth. He advanced a base on an infield out and scored on Bill Herman's double. The Cubs picked up single runs in the sixth and eighth with the aid of two hits, two walks and Moore's second out.

Dean struck out only one batsman, making heavy-hitting Johnny Mize whiff with two out in the fourth. He had control, however, and walked only two Cards. The St. Louis safeties all came in separate innings and when Macon opened the third with a single, Dean was given assistance with a fast double play.

Dean had to share a portion of the spotlight during the game with two veterans, Hartnett and Tony Lazzeri, each of whom placed the Cub attack with two safeties. But it was strictly Dizzy's show when the game ended. The Cubs rushed out to congratulate him as he made Mize ground out weekly to end the contest, and for a half hour after the battle thousands of fans waited at the park gates for a glimpse of the great one.

Bull Whip Will Find Derby Distance Biggest Obstacle

Bull Whip

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Inasmuch as most Bulldogs haven't liked distance, Bull Whip must prove that he can go the Kentucky Derby route of a mile and a quarter before he can be given serious consideration in Louisville, May 7.

Bull Whip's first start last year was in a race in which he was fifth and last to Daubler. Next he was 10th in a maiden event.

His greatest claim to consideration comes from the fact that he defeated Neddayr, Sturdy Duke, and Red Breast, winning by a neck in the last few strikes. He won his last start. He earned $1400 as a juvenile.

Bull Whip cost $8500 at the Saratoga yearling sales. He has had along rest, and no doubt will be given several warm-ups.

15-Year-Old Pitcher Is Offered $49,000 Contract by Yankee Club

It Is Kidnaping at Fancy Figure as World Champions Make Early Bid for Young Roy Pitter of San Francisco

Howard Ehnke, Al Mannaux, White Hoyt, Bob Feller.

No wonder kid pitchers are so popular.

San Francisco suspects that it has another Feller in Roy Pitter, 15-year-old dealer of Albany High School in the bay district.

Indeed, I hear that the New York Yankees right now are willing to give young Mr. Pitter a seven-year contract at $7000 per year, permit him to finish his education, and take their chances.

Pitter, who comes in at 180 pounds and looks and acts 20 years of age, has two more years of preparatory school, University of California, which turned out Orvie Overall of the old Chicago Cubs and numerous others, wants him.

Queried in regard to what he had been doing around the Golden City, Joe Devine, the Yankee scout, replied that he had been watching high school players.

"What high schools?" Devine was asked.

Catcher Luke Sewell of the Chicago White Sox raced all the way down to third base to cover this play, but Rudy York, Detroit Tiger backstop, hit the dirt and slid safely into the sack in the fourth inning of the Sox' 4-3 opening day victory over the Detroit team at Chicago. Sewell was badly shaken up on the play.

An examination at a hospital revealed no serious damage and it was announced Bloodworth would probably be ready to return to his post Tuesday.

Safe and Sane DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

Quick on the Trigger
Many motorists seem to take an inordinate pride in getting away at high speed from every stop. With engine racing and hand twitching on the gear shift, they can hardly wait until the traffic light changes from red to yellow.

Probably they do not know that in three racing starts they can waste enough gasoline to carry them a mile. The same type of motorists has a habit of coming up to the light at high speed, depending on quick application of the brakes to stop in time. He figures that if the signal light doesn't change he will be able to rush on and "beat the light."

He does not figure, of course, that these sudden stops are wearing his brakes out rapidly, and soon they will need relining.

Most important of all, however, neither of these hair-brained drivers has considered the chances of an accident in these reckless maneuvers. They probably would scoff at the idea that possibility of an accident is increased at all.

But common sense tells us that the hazards they run and the hazards they create are many times those of the driver who seeks to "play safe" at each street intersection.

AAA Officials Will Visit Hope Tuesday

Party to Be Welcomed by City Officials on Arrival Here

A party of 40 officials of the American Automobile Association will arrive in Hope Tuesday for a short visit. The party will be accompanied by William McComb, Arkansas director, and officials of the State Highway Department. They will arrive in Hope about 10:30 a. m., where they will be served refreshments at the Barlow hotel, and welcomed by city officials, members of the board of directors of the Hope Chamber of Commerce and citizens of Hope.

This party is composed of directors of automobile traffic for the American Automobile Association in 13 middle western states, who are making a tour of Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri. In conducting a tour of Arkansas by Automobile Club travel executives up on the invitation of Governor Bailey, the Arkansas Automobile Club is carrying out the best traditions of leadership in developing tourist travel.

The development of tourist travel has become a highly competitive undertaking and the officers of the Arkansas Automobile Club express the belief that the quickest and surest method of showing the advantages that this state has to offer to tourists is to bring executives who are directing tourist travel and show them what Arkansas has to offer in roads, hotels, scenery, and recreational advantages.

In announcing the completion of arrangements to entertain the group of representatives of automobile clubs during the week of April 24, Robert Jones of Hot Springs, one of the directors of the Arkansas Club, states that he believes the expenditure to bring travel directors to Arkansas pays the largest possible returns of any money that can be expended in travel promotion. He states that let the business interests of Hot Springs are deeply interested in the success of the tour and are particularly happy over having the opportunity of entertaining 40 or more travel executives from automobile clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

"The tour has been planned," said Mr. Jones, "so that we will show to the men and women directing tourist travel in some thirty or more clubs just what Arkansas has to offer in recreational facilities, such as boating, bathing, horseback riding, tennis and golf, along with our highways and splendid scenery. We find that travelers are anxious to know not only about roads and hotels but about recreational opportunities and it is to demonstrate to these traveling executives the superiority of Arkansas in these that the Automobile Club has promoted this tour."

"The tour as planned will show every part of the state. These people will see an average of all our roads and all of our facilities, and when they go home and are routing travelers to the southwest they will have no hesitancy in sending them to Arkansas, because they will have seen personally that the Arkansas Automobile Club is thoroughly established and that it can render service through garages in all parts of the state. There is no doubt in our minds but that there will be large returns in increased travel from this tour."

The tour comes into the state over U. S. Road 61 north of Blytheville and after traveling over U. S. 70, "The Broadway of America," to Little Rock, goes south to El Dorado and across south Arkansas to Hope and to Nashville, then to Hot Springs and back to Little Rock. From Little Rock, the tour will visit two of the state parks, Petit Jean and Devil's Den. They will also visit Mount Magazine and the Federal land utilization project, going from there to Fort Smith, Fayetteville, Rogers and Harrison leaving the state on May 1, over U. S. Road 65.

Raising Sorghum
Many farm dollars that are spent annually for syrup or syrup substitutes should be kept at home by raising sorghum and making syrup on the farm. In addition, sorghum syrup of uniform high quality finds a ready sale at a price great enough to make it a good cash crop.

The first step in producing good syrup is growing good sorghum, according to Charles F. Simmons, Extension Agronomist, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. The second step is cutting the sorghum at the right time, and making it immediately into syrup. Sorghum often matures just at the time other work on the farm is pressing. If it is allowed to grow until the other work is finished and then cut and manufactured, the resulting syrup will be of a poor quality. This may be avoided, Mr. Simmons said, by growing sorghum that will mature when the rush of other work is past, or by late planting, which will result in the late maturity.

Some of the recommended sorghum varieties for syrup are: Red X, Orange, Sugar Drip, and Colman's, which mature in 110 to 120 days; White African, which matures in 120 to 130 days; and Honey (Kentucky Honeydew and Seedling Ribbon Cane), which matures

No drama of the Mother Goose cycle has aroused more controversy among critics than Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary. What does it prove? Where does it lead you? What great question does it answer? At the end, everything is left up in the air.

Realizing the shortcomings of previous productions of this play, the Quintuplets decided that their version would settle the answers once and for all.

The climax of this play comes in scene three. If you'll look closely, you'll see that Mary Mary has a watering can, and that she isn't so contrary that she won't water the flowers when they need it. And so, naturally, the solution to this dramatic problem is simple:

Mary's garden couldn't grow better if it had to.

Next week: Little Jack Horner.

Sorghum should be planted anytime after the ground has warmed up in the spring on a well-prepared seed bed in rows 42 inches apart. The seed may be drilled solid in rows or planted at the rate of 6 or 8 seed in hills about a foot apart. When the seed are drilled solid, the young plants should be thinned to 4 to 5 stalks in hills about a foot apart. This thinning should be done before the plants tiller. Cultivation of sorghum is similar to that of corn, chiefly to keep down weeds and grasses.

Sorghum best follows a crop that has been well fertilized, so that additional fertilizer will not be necessary. On thin land, 100 to 200 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer should be applied before planting the sorghum.

Blackleg Threat
Many cattle raisers lost calves last year from blackleg, that they might have saved had all the calves been vaccinated at the proper time.

Pointing out the danger of this disease in herds in Hempstead county, the county agent said: "While not all farms or all areas in the state are infested with blackleg, the entire state is infested to a greater or lesser degree, and no cattle producer can be absolutely sure his herd will not be attacked even though he has never vaccinated and has had no losses."

Blackleg is caused by a specific germ that produces spores (seed) which live in the soil of pastures for Muldrow, Extension animal husband-

CROWNED AGAIN

Leslie Pawson, winner of the Boston Marathon in 1933, goes through a familiar ceremony as an official of the race places the laurel wreath upon his head for repeating in the 1938 event. The Pawtucket, R. I., veteran covered the 26-mile course in 2 hours, 34 minutes, 38 seconds.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. You and your wife are having dinner guests—is the serving of cocktails your responsibility?

2. Should you offer cigarettes to the guests each time you reach for one yourself?

3. If there is no servant—should you answer the door?

4. You take your wife to a dance—should you see that she always has a partner?

5. Should you seat the woman on your right or on your left at dinner?

What would you do if—
You are a bachelor and have been entertained by married friends—

(a) Decide that bachelorhood excuses you from repaying their hospitality?

(b) Take them to a restaurant for dinner—or to a show?

(c) Take the hostess flowers, a book, or candy when you go to their house?

Answers

1. Yes.

2. Yes—if they smoke.

3. Yes, for the hostess has plenty of other duties.

4. Yes, and not assume the freedom of a stag.

5. On your right.

Best "What Would You Do?" solution—Anything but (a), (b), (c) if you can possibly afford it, or (c) if you can't.
